

The Morrilltown Gazette.

Ex-Gov. Hendricks is actively engaged in the canvass in Indiana. He recently addressed 8,000 people at Muncie. The speech was devoted almost entirely to explaining why there should be a change in the Government. He argued that any party remaining in power as long as the Republican party had would become corrupt. Mr. Hendricks is enthusiastically received wherever he speaks.

MISS MORRILL'S LETTER. The Ohio Republican committee wrote a letter to senator Lot M. Morrill of Maine, asking him to come to Ohio and take part in the canvass for Mr. Blaine. The Senator has been dead for several years, and Mrs. Morrill opened and answered the invitation. Recently she has been interviewed. Her letter and a portion of the interview is as follows:

To Brown, Chairman, Columbus, O.: I am surprised and shocked to receive such a communication. I thought every citizen of this country knew my husband was at rest. I am in mourning for him, but as much as I mourn his death, I thank my Father in heaven that He called him home before the party he loved so well and did so much for had so disgraced itself as to nominate so corrupt a man for the highest office within the gift of the American people, as I know and my husband knew, James G. Blaine to be. If he were alive he would not support Mr. Blaine or any such man, or the hiding of his party.

My husband, continued Mrs. Morrill, was visited by Mr. Blaine at the beginning of the Little Rock Railroad bonds. Mr. Blaine, as he did to Mulligan, impudently asked my husband with tears and entreaties to use his influence to save him. When my husband resigned to go into the cabinet it was generally understood, and my husband so understood, that Gov. Chamberlain would be appointed to fill the vacancy. Instead to the surprise of everyone, Gov. Conner appointed Mr. Blaine, then a representative in Congress and under charge in that body, to the vacancy.

It is well for the memory of Senator Morrill that his wife has made this explanation. It has been thought that Senator Morrill resigned his seat in the Senate, understanding that Mr. Blaine would be appointed to the place, as he was not to escape further investigation about the Mulligan letters, as he did Mr. Conner, however, that when Senator Morrill, under great pressure, accepted the cabinet position, he understood that Mr. Chamberlain would be the appointment. The interview supports Mr. Mulligan's testimony that Blaine entreated him with tears in his eyes not to ruin him. Mrs. Morrill declares that her husband if living would not support Mr. Blaine, although he had been a staunch Republican.

THE PRESS OF THE MULLIGAN LETTERS. New York World: The World published the long-missing Blaine-Mulligan letters, and goes on to say: Every citizen of these letters should be read carefully and thoughtfully. Mr. Blaine cannot complain if he is judged by his own self-made record, and having read this, this question remains for the people: Is it not a burning insult to their honor and intelligence, at this crisis of official verity and almost universal fraud and corruption, when all issues sink into indifference beside the crying necessity for reform, to see this self-convicted political prostitute presented to the suffrages of a great nation for their highest honor—the place once held by a Washington?

New York Times: Few editors, we imagine, who had made up their minds to vote for Mr. Blaine in spite of the recorded evidence of his jobbing and leading office, and his falsehood which he brought to bay, will find serious trouble in disposing of Mr. Mulligan's latest budget on the same principles of toleration that enabled them to withstand the first shock. On the other hand, people who have already found sufficient reasons in Mr. Blaine's relations with the Boston men for opposing him in this canvass, will be strengthened in their conviction that he is unfit to be President of the United States.

New York Times: Upon the defenders of Mr. Blaine these letters will impose the difficult and unpleasant duty of revising them and bringing down to date their pleas in vindication. This will be awkward but it is what we have repeatedly warned them to expect. They have but imperfectly understood the character or measured the capacities of the Republican candidate if they have faintly imagined that the original Mulligan letters were the only store house in which those who distrust in Blaine would be able to find their support. To them and to others of every party and of every belief, we commend an attentive study of the letters we present this morning.

PIECES OF BONE. For four years I have been afflicted with a very troublesome catarrh of the head. So terrible has its nature been that when I lie in my bed, my small pieces of bones would frequently come out of my mouth and nose. The discharge was copious and at times exceedingly offensive. My blood became so impure that my general health was greatly impaired, with poor appetite and worse digestion. Numerous medicines were used without relief, until I began the use of Dr. J. P.
